

When the wood elves get tired they have to go home for a nap – how many doors can you find. (the map shows you where to look for them).

You can help them keep the park lovely by making sure you only take with you some happy memories, a little bit of mud on your wellies and of course any litter.

Come back and visit the Wood Elves any time you like and in the meantime stay safe, be kind and have fun!

9 WOOD ELVES HAVE MOVED IN TO HELP THE FAIRIES AT MUIRAVONSIDE, AND THEY NEED YOUR HELP....

Newparks Family Farm

They look after all the paths in the park making sure you can enjoy a lovely walk.

Follow the special Art in The Park trail so you can enjoy the sculptures and keep an eye out for tiny helpers polishing the artwork.

The Wood Elves have found out all about the secret bits of the park and its history. Look out for the big board's full of information at the back of the visitor centre, down by the river and next to the doocot.

Fairies like to keep their delicate clothes clean but Wood Elves don't mind a bit of mud or getting wet. They're always scrambling around the adventure play trail - challenge yourself to get as athletic as an elf and make your own way across one of the balance beams or scramble along the rocks without touching down on the ground.

Fairies have wings to flutter around on, but Wood Elves don't have their own wings. They play with the newts and have made friends with the dragonflies in the pond who give them lifts when they want to fly around. Find out more about all the wildlife that lives alongside the elves by venturing onto the boardwalk by the car park or taking a hike up to the giant newt sculpture.
